Dear John,

Every successful event requires the dedication and expertise of many – those who serve as the face of the organization as well as those who manage the “behind the scene tasks.” In other words, it is the united effort of the collective working together in making certain the project runs smoothly and successful.

I want to take this moment to thank you for everything done to help with our programming efforts last Wednesday. Your assistance with the PowerPoint presentation, insertion of the video, and the dedication of your time to help with the practice run were critical to the day's success. Not only did you create long lasting learning opportunities (i.e. Keepvid), you did so with joy and patience.

Once again, many thanks! It was truly a pleasure to work with you.
